

2001 USPS Website Award Recipients

The USPS Information Technology Committee is proud to announce the recipients of the 2001 USPS Website Awards. This year, 17 District and 120 Squadron websites have met the requirements for the Award. This is up from last year when 16 Districts and 64 Squadrons were presented with the Award. To quote the original Award proposal, they all "accurately and attractively represent USPS, its mission, and goals." They are all fun to visit, too.

I would like to express my heartfelt thanks to all of the website evaluators who worked on the 2001 Website Awards. Without the dedication and hard work of these volunteers there would not have been an award program.

Email will be sent to the webmasters of all of the District and Squadron websites with the results from this years' evaluations. If you are the webmaster of a USPS District or Squadron website and you have not received the results please send email to me at: donkers@aps.anl.gov and I will be sure that you get them.
