Comprehensive collection of Sea Grant funded documents. established in 1970 as the official Sea Grant archive. The collection covers a wide variety of subjects, including oceanography, marine education, aquaculture, fisheries, aquatic nuisance species, coastal hazards, seafood safety, limnology, coastal zone management, marine recreation and law. The NSGL staff lends documents all over the world to aid scientists, teachers, students, fishermen, and many other individuals in their research and studies. The NSGL also maintains a 36,000 record bibliographic database that is searchable from this website. Here you may obtain citations and abstracts of Sea Grant publications and, in many cases, you may access a full text copy of the document online. Sea Grant encourages the wise stewardship of our marine resources through research, education, outreach and technology transfer and the NSGL is committed to providing easy access to the wealth of information that is generated by the program.

Protect Your Waters (Stop Aquatic Hitchhikers)

A site for recreational users who want to help stop aquatic nuisance species. Protecting our water resources is an important part of our overall boating enjoyment. A concern we must all address is the spreading of harmful plants, animals and other organisms. These aquatic nuisance species can hitch a ride on our clothing, boats, and items used in the water. When we go to another lake or stream, the nuisance species can be released. And, if the conditions are right, these introduced species can become established and create drastic results. By following simple procedures each time we leave the water, we can stop aquatic hitchhikers (info on species, resources, procedures, outreach material).
